It may in truth be said that there is hardly any distinction among the Chinese population in Hongkong between traders and non-traders, for the national passion for trade in some form or other is as ingrained in everybody, man, woman and child, and as freely and generally indulged in as the national passion for gambling, which, in the view of the better classes at least, is indeed morally reprehensible, but after all merely a more speculative form of trading. An instance of this will be found in the late mania for speculations in house property, in which domestic employes, clerks and schoolmasters, and persons of all descriptions were mixed un more than professional merchants. The only distinction that can be made with reference to the Chinese residents of Hongkong in this regard is this that we may distinguish open and professed traders from underland and amateur traders, for with rare exceptions they are almost all participating in trade operations, directly or

In Urumtsi there is an enchanted mountain, at the foot o which lies a lake of unfathomable depth This mountain appears to be under the protection of unusually benignant deities, to whom a temple has recently been erected on the hills. It appears that the lake, the water of which is necessary to the residents for irrigation purposes, some time ago showed signs of drying up; and it was to propitiate the local deities and so avert the Saghalien, may be expected to arrive impending danger, that the temple in question was built. No sooner was the structure completed, than the lake, which had been falling rapidly for a long time, suddenly rose more than one hundred feet -a clear proof of the appreciation, by the divinities, of the compliment they had received. Nor is this the only service that has been thus rendered. The deities have prevented the country from being devastated by locusts, and have several times sent snow for the protection of the crops. CIATIONS. To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL." Hongkong, July 25.

Sir,—I am glad to see the local press men to the action of their brethron in Singapore, and trust the hint to go and do likewise will be taken. Having had something to do with the formation of the "Shipmasters' Association" in Shanghai. and being lso a member of an "Officers" Association," I can bear witness to the good effected by these institutions, especially the latter, which has created an esprit de corps most valuable to the profession. Besides providing instruction and amusement, it has also placed a check on the unruly members, who will now think twice before incurring the censure of the body by acting in a manner calculated to bring discredit on the profession, as they know that such censure will act as a bar to employment. Shanghai can now challenge the East to produce a more sober, trustworthy, intelligent body of Shipmasters, Officers, and Engineers than are to be found in those who make the "Model Settlement" their head quarters.

The Associations disclaim all Trades Union tendencies and have the countenance, sympathy, and support of the shipowners and the public generally. The manner in which the "Engineers' Institute" has been conducted, is beyond all praise and must be very gratifying to its originators. #### THE CHINA REVIEW. PUBLISHED BI-MONTHLY.

THIS Review, which was intended to meet 1 the wants of many students of Chinese caused by the discontinuance of "Notes and Queries on China and Japan," has reached its Tenth Volume. The Review discusses those topics which are uppermost in the minds of students of the "Far East" and about which every intelligent person connocted with China or Japan is desirous of nequiring trustworthy information. It includes many interesting Notes and original Papers on the Arts, Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Natural History, Antiquities, and Social Manners and Customs, etc., etc., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, and the Far East generally. Recently a new departure has been taken, and the Review new gives papers on Trade, Commerce, and Descriptive notes of Travel by well-known writers. It was thought that by extending the scope of the Review in this direction, the Magazine would be made more generally uscful.

The Review department receives special attention, and endeavours are made to present a careful and concise record Literature on China etc., and to give critiques embodying sketches of the Most recent works on such topics. Authors and Publishers are requested to forward works to "Editor, China Review, care of China

Mail Office. The Notes and Queries are still continued and form an important means of obtaining from and diffusing among students knew ledge on obscure points. The Correspondents' column also affords St. John's Cathedral (Anglican), above farther and greater facilities for the interchange of views and discussion of various

Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, or any of the Modern Languages are recoived. The papers are contributed by the Union Church, Elgin Street, members of the various Consular, the Imperial Customs, and Hongkong Services, St. Peter's Senmen's Church, West Point. and also by the Missionary bodies amongst whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is assiduously cultivated. Amongst the regular contributors are Drs. Chalmers, Eitel, Bretschneider, Hirth, and Hance, Professor Legge, and Messes Balfour, Watters, Stent, Phillips, MacIntyre, Groot, Jamieson, Faber, Kopsch, Parker, Playfair, Sailors Home, West Point. Giles, and Piton, -all well-known names, indicative of sound scholarship and thorough mastery of their subject. The Subscription is fixed at $6.50 per annum, postage included - payable in ad-

Orders for binding volumes will be promptly attended to: Address, "Mana ger, China Mail Office.

OPINIONS OF THE PIESS.

"All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review."-Northern Christian Advacate (US.) "The China Review * * * has an ex cellent table of contents." - Celestial Empire. "The Publication always contains subjects of interest to sojourners in the Far East and the present issue will hold favourable if not advantageous comparison, with preceding numbers."-Clostict Empire. "This number contains several articles of interest and value." -- North China Herold. "The present number of this periodical, * * * * opens with a review of the Foreign Trade of China during 1880. This is rather a new departure for a publication which professes to be purely literary; but considering the comparatively small circulation it enjoys at present among the commercial communities of China, we hall the innovation as likely to recommend the Review to the notice of those who take an interest in few matters beyond mercantile pursuits. North-China Herald.

"The China Review for September October fully maintains the high standard of excellence which characterises that publication, and altogether forms a very interesting and readable number. Meteorologists will find an interesting and valuable contribution by Dr. Fritsche. on "the Amount of Precipitation (Rain and Snow) of Peking," showing the results of observations made at the Imperial Russian Observatory at Peking, from 1841 to Four Coolies. 1880. " Notes on the Dutch Occupation of Formesa," by Mr. Geo. Phillips, contains Two Coolies, ... some interesting information, although much of it is second-hand. The Notices of New Books include a most generous and appreciative review of "The Divine Classic of Nan-Hua," and the Notes and Queries are as usual very interesting."—North-China

Daily News. "A substantial and reliable Review which all students of China and the Chinese would do well to patronise."—Chrusanthemum.

the China Review contains less variety than usual, but the few articles are very interesting. The opening paper by Mr Herbert A. Giles on "The New Testament in Chinese" treats of a question that must necessarily be of great importance in the eyes of all missionaries. . . Mr E. H. Parker's "Short Journeys in Szechuen" are continued, and a goodly instalment of these travels in the interior of China is given. Mr F. H. Balfour contributes paper of some length entitled "The Emperor Cheng, founder of the Chinese Empire," which will be read with genuine interestably students of Chinese history. A few short notices of New Books and number of Notes and Queries, one of which "On Chinese Oaths in Western Borneo and Java" might appropriately have been placed under a separate heading, complete

following notice of the China Review:-The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the | 3rd Class Cargo Boat or Ha-kau Boat of accumulation of important stores of informstion, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirbable; and contributions of rauch interest may fairly be looked for from the members. of the foreign consular services, the Chinasa Customs corps, and the missionar, body, among whom a high degree of thippen scholarship is now assiduously cultivated.

and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra. is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail; we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Quories" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary seal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its prede-cessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance.
